Trade Unions and the climate crisis: green jobs and just transition

- * Blackburn and District Trades Union Council is hosting a public Panel-led discussion in the Hornby Lecture Theatre of Blackburn Central Library – at 7pm on Wednesday 16th October – with the title “Trade Unions and the climate crisis: green jobs and just transitions”.

Our Panellists will be:

Ben Crawford .Research Officer, Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment – co-author of the Institute of Employment Rights (IER) pamphlet, “Working for Climate Justice: Trade unions in the front line against climate change”

Jason Hunter, UNISON NW Region, and

Michael Agboh-Davison, UNITE for a Workers Economy and “No ban without a Plan” campaign.

Join us to discuss the employment implications of climate can promote public awareness of, and commitment to, the idea of “just transition”.
