

Join us

Archive-It has over 400 partners, including:

- > College and University Libraries
- > State and Municipal Libraries and Archives
- > Public Libraries and Historical Societies
- > National Organizations
- > NGOs and Religious Institutions
- > Museums and Art Libraries

About us

Archive-It enables organizations to build and preserve collections of web content. Our partners can archive, manage, and access their content with our web application. Join us at: archive-it.org

We are a subscription service of the Internet Archive, which has collected the world's largest public web archive since 1996. Access the Internet Archive's Wayback Machine at: archive.org/web

Learn more...

The Archive-It team conducts live informational webinars with a demonstration of our software.

Sign up to learn more at:
archive-it.org/contact-us

Web: archive-it.org
Email: ait@archive.org

Internet Archive
300 Funston Avenue
San Francisco, CA 94118

A Web Archiving Service

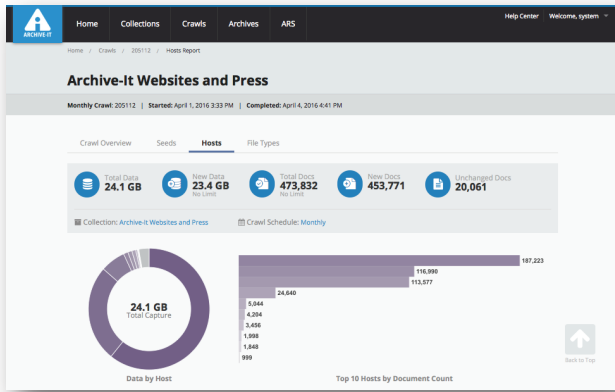

Our partner organizations build and preserve accessible archives of web content using a cost-effective service.

archive-it.org

FEATURES

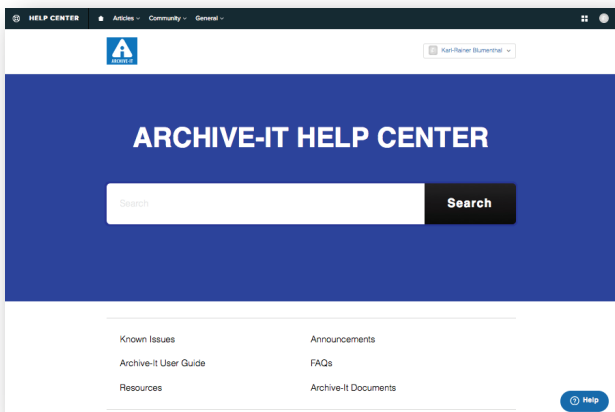

Curator tools

- > Control the extent, depth, and description of your collections.

Support

- > Get in-depth training and technical support from professional web archivists.
- > Use Archive-It's online Help Center and community forum to learn from partners.

Access

- > Browse collections by URL, by metadata, and by full-text search.

- > Public access via archive-it.org and tools to build your own integrated portals.

Storage

- > Store archives in preservation format in our multiple, redundant data centers.
- > Download your archived content on-demand for local management.

Our partners use Archive-It to...

- > Include web materials in traditional collection development
- > Fulfill records retention requirements
- > Preserve their institutional web presence
- > Document significant or spontaneous events
- > Rescue websites before they disappear (no more '404' messages!)

Partner testimonials

One of our main motivations for choosing Archive-It is the service's "turn-key" functionality. The Archive-It service allows us to focus on the curatorial aspects of the endeavor, and to avoid getting bogged down in the myriad technical issues associated with Web crawling, storage, display, etc.

- University of Texas, Austin

The special collections of tomorrow's research libraries are going to be, at least in part, the digital content and websites of today. With very little investment and overhead, Archive-It gives us capacity to collect, curate, preserve and take responsibility for the materials that matter most to our users and our communities – both current and those to come.

- University of Alberta, Canada

We sleep better at night knowing we use Archive-It.

- Indiana University

See our partners' collections at:

archive-it.org