

-20

The image is a circular astronomical observation, likely a radio continuum map, showing a complex, filamentary structure. The structure consists of numerous bright, interconnected filaments and clumps against a dark background. The overall shape is roughly circular, with some brighter regions and some darker, less dense areas. The label '-20' is positioned in the top right corner, indicating a specific parameter or value associated with the image.