Utterances:

You are looking for a mobile Internet connection and a twelve month contract is an option for you.

You are looking for a mobile Internet connection without a twelve month contract.

You have the option to sign on to pay as you go where you do not have to sign a contract. Usually this option is more expensive per unit, but you have the option to stop using the services whenever you like. A twelve month contract on the other hand is usually cheaper per unit but ties you to one provider for the period of twelve months.

Is a twelve month contract an option for you or do you want to be more flexible with a pay as you go option? I can explain to you the conditions of a twelve month contract and the other options you have if you want

Instructions:

Check whether customer prefers a contract or a pay-as-you go option.
