

A covariant functor F is representable iff its category of elements $\int F \simeq \int C(c, -) \simeq c/C$ has an initial object

A contravariant functor F is representable iff its category of elements $\int F \simeq \int C(-, c)$ has a final object

Passive learning
 from observation

Active learning
 from experimentation
 (Causal inference, RL)