

Question: How did J.J. Gittes discover that the Water and Power Department was dumping fresh water into the ocean at night?

Ground Truth: J.J. Gittes uncovered the information about the Water and Power Department dumping fresh water into the ocean at night after he was hired to investigate Hollis Mulwray and began to delve deeper into the activities of the water department.

DrVideo

Predict Answer: J.J. Gittes discovered that the Water and Power Department was dumping fresh water into the ocean at night by following a series of clues that included witnessing the water being dumped, finding evidence of water diversion, and confronting a former employee of the department who confirmed the illegal activity.