

JOURNAL of ISLAMIC and MUSLIM STUDIES

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Vincent J. Cornell – Emory University, Atlanta, GA

MANAGING EDITOR

Layla Sein – NAAIMS, Herndon, VA

---

EDITORIAL BOARD

Mohammad H. Khalil
Michigan State University
East Lansing, MI

M. Nazif Shahrani
Indiana University, Bloomington, IN

Sherine F. Hamdy
University of California, Irvine, CA

Sarra Tlili
University of Florida
Gainesville, FL

Mohammad H. Fadel
University of Toronto
Ontario, Canada

Waleed A. El-Ansary
Xavier University, Cincinnati, OH

Mohammed Rustom
Carleton University, Ottawa, Canada

---

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Soha Bayoumi
Harvard University, Cambridge, MA

Ian B. Straughn
University of California, Irvine, CA

Kevin Caffrey
Harvard University, Cambridge, MA

Salah D. Hassan
Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI

Robert M. Tappan
University of Towson, Towson, MD

Turan Kayaoglu
University of Washington
Tacoma, WA

Aisha Y. Musa
Foundation for the Study of Abrahamic Religions, San Diego, CA

---

BOOK REVIEW EDITOR

Atif Khalil
University of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada

---

FILM REVIEW EDITOR

Heba Arafa Abdelfattah
Yale Institute of Sacred Music, Yale University, New Haven, CT

---

MISSION STATEMENT

The Journal of Islamic and Muslim Studies (JIMS) is the official publication of the North American Association of Islamic and Muslim Studies (NAAIMS). The journal's mission is to expand and develop a multidisciplinary repertoire of scholarship on the study of Islam and Muslims. It hopes to fill a vacuum in the international landscape of Muslim societies by disseminating knowledge regarding the Muslim world through the diverse lived-experiences of Muslims. To achieve its goals, JIMS will publish original scholarly research in the field of Islamic and Muslim studies; pursue discussions and debates on Muslim societies and Islam as a religion and civilization; support the study of Muslim identities and their relationship to Islamic traditions; publish reviews of recent scholarly literature and films; and engage with current issues and pedagogies in the field.