

OpticsPlanet Gets First Access to New Gear From Armasight

OpticsPlanet gets first access to fourteen new Armasight products, including night vision, thermal vision, and more, introducing advances in tactical gear to law enforcement, military service men and women, and hunters.

Northbrook, Illinois September 5, 2013 – OpticsPlanet.com looks to improve their extensive product line by adding fourteen new products to their selection of popular Armasight brand. The Armasight line is expanding rapidly and OpticsPlanet is getting first access to these great products with some of the best prices online.

These Armasight products range from the Vulcan 2.5-5x Ghost MG Night Vision Rifle Scope to the Venom Gen 1+ Night Vision Goggles, and everything in between. The Vulcan 2.5-5x Ghost MG Night Vision Rifle Scope is the ultimate in generation 3 night vision. This rifle scope was designed for the avid hunter, with top of the line features like a wireless remote control and a 2X magnifier which allows the user to switch from 2.5X to 5X system in seconds. For beginner hunters looking to add to their kit, the Venom Gen 1+ Night Vision Goggles are an ideal start. As one of the most up-to-date and affordable devices, they offer peak performance. Other new products include Armasight monoculars, night vision units, and thermal imaging rifle scopes. All are held to the highest of standards of quality that shooters are accustomed to in Armasight products.

One scope they are particularly proud of is the Armasight Zeus 4 Thermal Imaging Rifle Scope. This scope has the proven 160x120 micro-bolometer core with the ergonomic features of a handheld scope for more convenience. Fog, haze, smoke, and dust have little to no effect on the Zeus 4 Thermal Imager. This scope is a perfect tool for force protection, police SWAT officers, border patrol officers, and special operations forces due to its functionality both in day and night settings.

The Armasight brand is a leader in its field of night vision and thermal imaging. With this new product expansion, OpticsPlanet continues to offer the most up-to-date gear to their customers.
