OpticsPlanet understands the need to keep valuables safe from intruders or natural disasters, which is why they offer the trusted brand of Cannon Safe. Protect everything from jewelry and passports to weapons, and more.

Northbrook, Illinois September 30, 2013 – OpticsPlanet.com is always looking to make sure their customers have everything they need for hunting and the great outdoors, even if it's something that never leaves the house. OpticsPlanet is proud to offer a wide variety of Cannon Safes to help protect their customers' most prized possessions.

Cannon Safe has designed their safes to protect possessions from not only burglars but also from fire damage as well. They are doing this by giving their safes features like the electronic-mechanical protection (EMP) lock, anti-pry tabs, triple hard plates, and active locking bolts. The EMP lock provides a manual backup system should an electromagnetic pulse ever affect your safe. The anti-pry tabs eliminate the wiggle room between the safe and the bolts. Triple hard plates provide more ruggedness and protection around the bolts, while the bolts themselves are four inches long, two inches longer than any competitor.

OpticsPlanet knows firsthand about the quality and precision that each Cannon Safe is made with. They recently had a chance to visit the Cannon Safe manufacturing facility in California where Cannon Safe employees walked them through each step of the manufacturing process to prove just how much time and energy goes into each individual safe. Each step of the process has to be done properly from when they start out with a single piece of sheet metal, throughout the bending and molding of that metal, to the attaching of the door and applying the paint. After the mechanical components have been attached and everything is tested at least eight times, each safe gets boxed up and shipped out.

Another feature of a Cannon Safe is the lifetime warranty that is offered. Included in this warranty are parts, labor, and freight. That means that should a burglar try to break into the safe or a fire or flood were to ruin the home, Cannon Safe would replace the safe at no charge. It is best of both worlds, all valuable possessions would be safe and secure and they would bring a new safe for free. No extra work would have to be done.

OpticsPlanet carries a wide variety of Cannon Safe products including safes, gun safes, gun safe accessories, gun storage, and gun cabinets. There is something for everyone whether you need a small five cubic foot safe or a large thirty cubic foot safe. Get the peace of mind you want and protect your belongings with a great safe from Cannon Safe.
