Connecting the global optics and photonics community

GLOBAL REACH.

Uniting scientists, students, engineers, and professionals, Optica Publishing Group provides the global optics and photonics community with a wide array of opportunities to submit and publish, review, and read and listen to content from our extensive publishing program. Using our best-in-class publishing infrastructure, authors around the world can easily submit their manuscripts, reviewers can become certified and earn rewards for participating in the peer review process, and users can discover, read, and listen to our published content.

MOST ARTICLES AND CITATIONS.

Our platform contains more than 470,000 articles from 20 publications, as well as thousands of conference papers and videos from more than 1,150 events.

We are proud that our collection of flagship, partnered, and co-published peer-reviewed journals continue to receive the most citations (36%) and publish the largest number of articles (32%) in the field of optics and photonics. [Source: Journal Citation Reports™ from Clarivate, 2023]

HIGHEST QUALITY.

Scientists regularly turn to our content to meet their research needs. Since 1917, we have been publishing seminal research in optics and photonics, including the findings of thought leaders, Nobel Prize winners, and inventors who have changed the technological landscape in our field.

INTRODUCING OPTICA QUANTUM, A NEW OPEN ACCESS JOURNAL FOR HIGH-IMPACT RESEARCH

We are very pleased to share that we are launching Optica Quantum, a new journal dedicated to high-impact research results in quantum information science and technology. Similar to its parent journal, Optica, this Gold Open Access journal will provide the same exceptional standards for quality, novelty, and significance. Submissions are now open, and the inaugural issue will publish in Fall 2023. Please let your patrons know about this new Journal and add it to your title list. See Page 10 for details or learn more at opg.optica.org/opticaq.

OPTICA OPEN: PREPRINTS IN OPTICS AND PHOTONICS

Optica Open is the first preprint server dedicated to advancing optics and photonics research around the globe. With it, your patrons can convert their preprint to a journal submission and vice versa, satisfy their funder Open Access requirement by updating their preprint posting to an Optica Publishing Group journal with their accepted manuscript, and establish the priority of their research results. There are benefits for readers as well as they can search across optics and photonics preprints from both arXiv and Optica Open. Learn more at preprints.opticaopen.org.

EXTENDED BACKFILE PROGRAM CONTINUES—YEARS OF COMPLIMENTARY ACCESS CHANGING

As a reminder, our single-title subscription pricing includes access to newly published articles in 2024 plus complimentary access to a portion of the backfile. For the 2024 subscription year, complimentary access for all single-title subscriptions will include content from 2014 to 2024. For those interested in providing access to their patrons to content prior to 2014, there are a few different options. Subscribers can either upgrade to one of our package products and receive complimentary access to the entire backfile for all titles in that package, lease the applicable backfile, or acquire one of our Digital Archive products.
