

Where can I find publications on SDG 1?

Various factors affect poverty, and poverty impacts our society in various ways. Poverty and its consequences are driven by economic policies, social structures, geographical access to resources, public health, and the quality of education, among other factors. Research on this multi-disciplinary topic is fully accessible in the following journals:

Sustainability 556	Agriculture 23
IJERPH 354	Remote Sensing 23
Energies 89	ISPRS International Journal of Geo-Information 22
Nutrients 76	Healthcare 19
Land 69	Education Sciences 18
Social Sciences 66	Children 15
Water 35	JRFM 14
Forests 34	Applied Sciences 13
Economies 29	Societies 13
Religions 29	Tropical Medicine and Infectious Disease 12

Impact of SDG 1 in MDPI publications

990 papers mention “SDG 1”, “Sustainable Development 1” or “no poverty” in MDPI publications between 2015–2023.

By extending the search to No poverty-related keywords, we find 1975 papers were published in the same period in MDPI.

Who is publishing on this topic?

Ending poverty is a priority in many countries that suffer from this issue. The causes of poverty are diverse, but its effects impact all of us.

Here are the countries that published the most articles within this topic in MDPI journals:

