

Figure S5: Sections of the real space phase map of the crystal. Phases corresponding to points with low density, i.e. outside the body of the crystal, have little meaning. The slices have a 69nm spacing.