File name: Supplementary Software 1

Description: Python script for finite temperature mean field calculations. The function `self_consistent_solver(field, temperature)` takes as input the magnetic field and the temperature, and returns the simulated thermal averages of the spin moment and the spin-induced electric dipole moment at sublattices A and B.