

on October 22, 2020 at 10AM ET the

TORONTO GEOMETRY COLLOQUIUM

presents talk number three

Olga Sorkine-Hornung
of ETH Zurich on “Discrete developable surfaces:
3D shapes from 2D sheets”

opening speaker
Silvia Sellán of University of Toronto on “Developability of Heightfields via Rank Minimization”

Follow us @GeometryToronto
<https://toronto-geometry-colloquium.github.io>

The Toronto Geometry Colloquium is a live weekly hour-long webseries showcasing geometry processing research. Topics range from computer science, mathematics, and engineering including 3D deep learning, computational fabrication, and computer graphics

Illustration by Anson Chan