

Scholarships at CDU

CDU are committed to providing opportunities to students through our scholarship program, which is supported by government, local business, organisations and individuals.

We offer scholarships for different purposes and with different eligibility criteria. Some are for students who show talent and passion for their area of study. Others are for students who show commitment and vision in their local community. There are scholarships for school leavers, students undertaking work placements and who chose to postpone their studies to make way for other life commitments.

Scholarships range between $500 and $25,000, and are paid directly into your bank account, so you can use the funds in the way you feel best helps your studies.

Scholarship categories

CDU offers scholarships based on the following categories:

- > Field of study
- > Study load (full-time or part-time)
- > Study sector (higher education or TAFE)
- > First Nations Australians
- > Residential location
- > Location of placement
- > Gender

Who can apply?

Anyone who is a commencing or a current CDU student can apply for scholarships. You can apply for more than one scholarship; and hold up to two active scholarships at one time. If you are offered more than two scholarships, you can choose which two scholarships you wish to accept.

When and how to apply

Scholarships have two (2) main application periods aligned with Semester 1 and 2 of the academic year. Visit CDU Scholarship Finder to identify which ones you may be able to apply for by using the filter. Click the 'Read More' button on each scholarship to confirm that you meet every eligibility criterion prior to submitting your application. When you are ready, click on 'Apply Now' button. Make sure you address each selection criteria in your application to ensure that the assessment panel can rank you for each section.

Tips for your scholarship application

Addressing your selection criteria

- Address each selection criteria independently
- Keep your answers relevant to the criteria as possible
- Attach appropriate evidence (if applicable) to support your response
- Avoid copying and pasting your response. Each question is evaluated independently and requires a unique and complete response.
- Avoid redirecting the committee to a different section of your application
- Do not leave a selection criterion empty. This may result in a score of zero for that selection criteria
- Avoid submitting your responses in a separate document, please be aware that these responses will not be scored.
- Directly address each criterion within the provided text boxes to ensure proper evaluation.

What does the panel require?

Look again at the selection criteria on the CDU Scholarships website. Are there any points you're being asked to cover specifically? If it says 'demonstrate passion, ability and initiative' you need to do just that by giving examples on each topic. It's best not to repeat the answer such as "I am passionate and have the ability to show initiative". Instead give the panels examples of how you show your passion such as "I created study groups", "...volunteer to visit the elderly at the hospital weekly". This also gives you the opportunity to stand out in the crowd of many.

If you are asked to 'demonstrate a commitment to the NT and intention to use your qualifications and skills in the Territory,' give examples of how you hope to do this once you achieve your degree. It's important to recognise the donors are looking for someone who will get involved and give back to the community. A great way to demonstrate your ties to the NT would be to mention your participation in any community groups, sporting teams or even social clubs you are part of.

You can support your application by providing documents relating to your community involvement or references confirming your passion, again remember to keep these relevant.

Who are giving the scholarship and what is their background/purpose?

Do some online research. Find out information about the donor of the scholarship. Tying this information into your statement shows you have done your homework. If you can relate this to yourself and your goals, even better.

Tell the panel about yourself but keep it relevant

The panel that assesses each scholarship wants to get to know you. They want to have an idea of who the recipient is, not just their ability to address selection criteria. If you can include personal information and keep it relevant, then do so. For example, a person who grew up with a family involved in motor sports might tie that into why they want to study mechanical engineering. Include personal information in your application as long as it relates to the category of scholarship you are applying for.

Give them something extra

Finally, think about your competition, particularly for a scholarship that is aimed at a specific course. Consider that the other applicants will be reading this guide too. What sets you apart from them? No examples here; you will have to think about this and demonstrate how you can stand out from the crowd!

I applied because I needed financial support to be able to buy the equipment I needed to do my study (a laptop), as well as support so that I could work less and focus more on my studies. It also meant that when difficult times came up, as they inevitably did in 2020, I was more resilient and could carry on.

The scholarship not only gave me financial support but also made me feel like someone else saw me as worthy of investing in, and thought that I could add value to their workplace. The work experience component of the scholarship gave me much-needed real-world experience, where I was able to put my theoretical skills into practice and build networks. It was really confidence-boosting.
