The South Asia Subregional Economic Cooperation (SASEC) Program brings together Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Myanmar, Nepal, and Sri Lanka

in a project-based partnership to promote regional prosperity, improve economic opportunities, and build a better quality of life for the people of the subregion. SASEC countries share a common vision of boosting intraregional trade and cooperation in South Asia, while also developing connectivity and trade with Southeast Asia through Myanmar, to the People's Republic of China, and the global market.

www.sasec.asia serves as a one-stop shop for information on SASEC activities, projects, and knowledge materials in the key areas of transport, trade facilitation, energy, and economic corridor development. It includes

- Comprehensive links to all SASEC projects and project documentation
- Calendar of SASEC events, including training and capacity building materials
- Regional and inter-regional news of interest to SASEC and other regional groupings
- Publications, working papers, and reports on transport, trade facilitation, energy, economic corridor development initiatives, as well as regional cooperation in South Asia

It seeks to build a virtual and dynamic discussion platform, sharing experience and information on regional cooperation initiatives and events in South Asia, and to create a continually updated repository of data and knowledge on regional cooperation.

www.sasec.asia also connects through @sasecprogram on Twitter and Facebook, which shares daily updates, and the monthly SASEC e-Newsletter that collates all news on projects, events and other activities.

The SASEC mobile app is also available for download, and provides concise updates on news, events, projects, and knowledge products.

About the South Asia Subregional Economic Cooperation Program

The South Asia Subregional Economic Cooperation (SASEC) Program brings together Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Myanmar, Nepal, and Sri Lanka in a project-based partnership to promote regional prosperity by improving cross-border connectivity, facilitating faster and less costly trade among member countries, and strengthening regional economic cooperation.

Since 2001, the Asian Development Bank has financed loans, grants, and technical assistance to member countries to improve physical infrastructure, support reform processes and build capacity in the key areas of SASEC - transport, trade facilitation, energy, and economic corridor development. SASEC also creates knowledge platforms that promote a regular exchange of information and experience-sharing in the subregion and ensure that international best practices underpin and strengthen the planning of effective regional development initiatives. The Asian Development Bank serves as the SASEC Secretariat.
