

Powerful Team Collaboration With Zultys

Team collaboration is not a one-size-fits-all approach. That's why we've built our Unified Communications solution with powerful conferencing capabilities that make it easy for your team to connect and collaborate, no matter what your unique needs are or what time zones you're in.

What sets us apart is our ability to offer both scheduled and on-demand conference calls, all within the same user interface — no downloads or extra platforms required. With our solution, audio and video conference calling becomes an integral part of your team's workflow, allowing you to easily connect and collaborate with others without compromising productivity.

Flexibility to Stay Connected

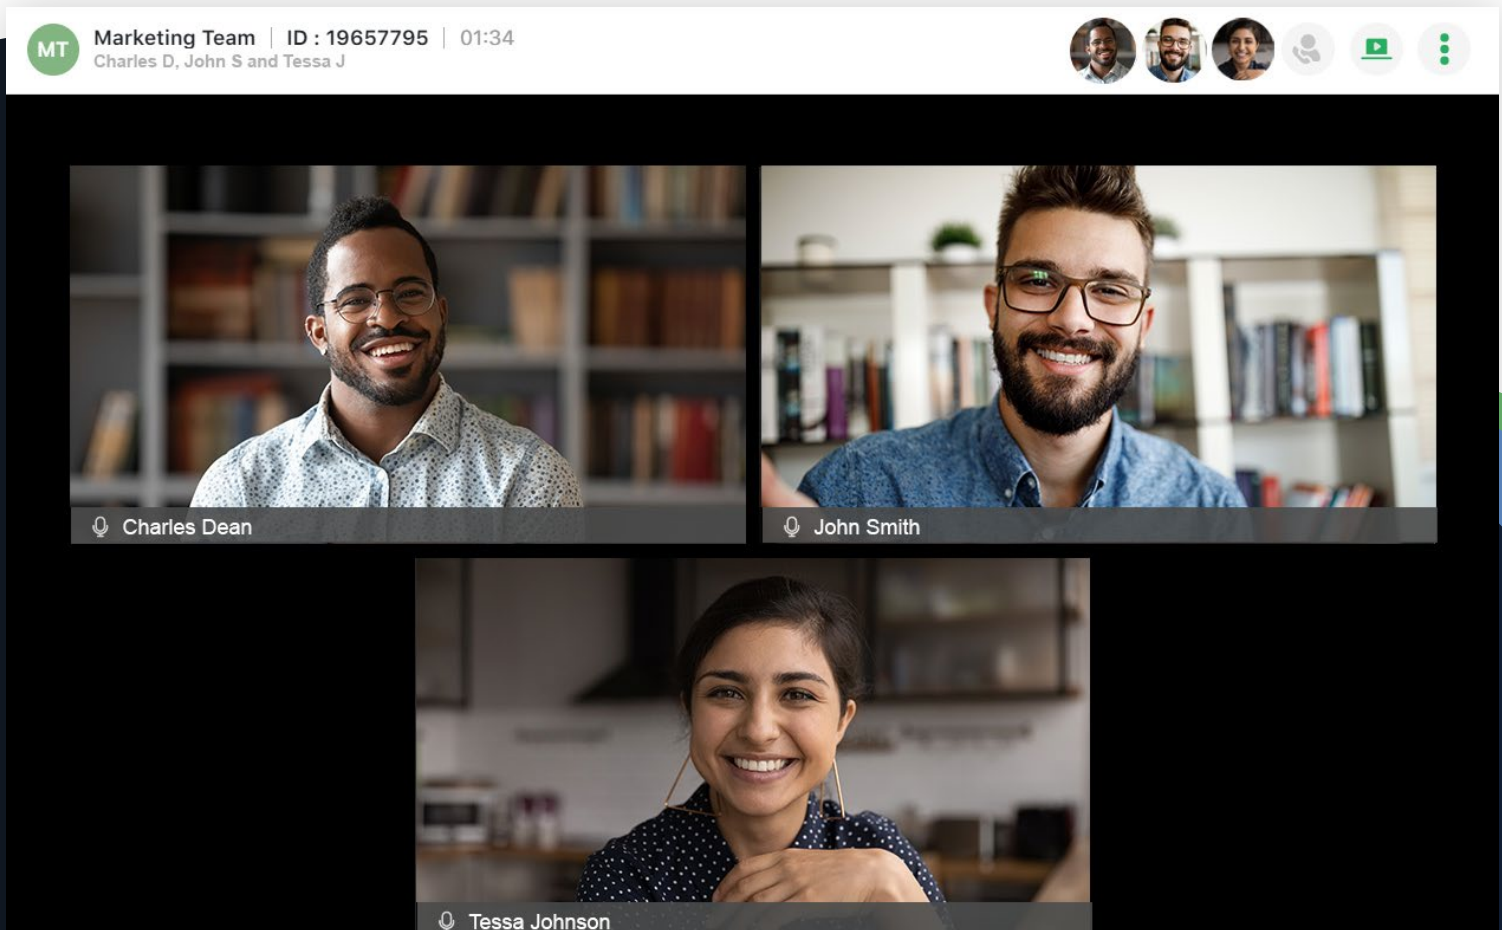

Our platform allows you not only to conduct conference calls with ease but also to switch from a phone call to a video call with just one click. This means you can transition from a voice-only discussion to a face-to-face meeting without any interruptions or delays. Because our platform is accessible from your computer, mobile device, and physical phone, you can join a conference from anywhere and at any time and seamlessly switch between devices. This means you can stay connected and productive, even if you are on the go or working remotely.

Conference Your Way: Meet as Needed or Schedule in Advance

Activating a conference call on-the-fly is easy. Simply call one or multiple participants directly using the keypad or by locating them in your directory. Additionally, group chat has its own conference capability, so you can easily activate a conference without having to leave the group chat. Chat activity isn't affected by when the conference call starts or ends, so you can access all messages, files, and images shared during the meeting and even after it's over.

If you need to plan ahead, our platform also simplifies conference call planning and management, allowing you to schedule calls conveniently within the same user experience. By scheduling conference calls, you can help your team stay organized and on track. Whatever your conferencing needs, our platform is flexible and user-friendly, allowing for efficient and effective team collaboration.

Feature-Rich Conferencing

Multi-Party Conferencing

Our platform allows for conferencing between Zultys users, guests, or a mix of both! And it's easy to add additional parties to a new or existing conference call. Email them a link with a click of a button or directly call them in.

Start-to-Finish Conference Recordings

Save an audio recording of an entire conference — regardless of when you start recording — with just a click of a button.

Screen Sharing

Benefit from our integrated screen-sharing capabilities on any call, making it easy for you to demonstrate ideas, share information, and improve understanding.

Email and Calendar Integration

Invitations to scheduled conferences can be sent and synced with email and calendar integration. And you can dial your contacts directly from Outlook.

Smart Analytics Capabilities

With MXreport, our analytics tool, you can gain valuable insights on conferences, such as how many people joined, when they joined, and how long they stayed on the call. This gives you the ability to track attendance and engagement over time and to make data-driven decisions for improvement.

Chat and Share Files

Group chat activity isn't affected by when the conference call starts or ends, so you can access all messages, files, and images shared during the meeting and even after it's over.

Team Collaboration to Fit Your Needs

Depending on how you deploy our Unified Communications solution, conferencing capacities can be configured to meet your business needs. Conferencing with Zultys is activated by licensing, meaning you only pay for what you need and can easily scale up if you need more capacity.

Transform the Way You Meet

As the conference host, you have full control within the platform, allowing you to:

- View the list of participants
- Mute a participant and mute all
- Disconnect a participant from a conference
- Use entry and exit chimes
- Drag ringing calls, active calls, and calls on hold into a conference
- Convert active phone calls into a conference call on demand
- Leave the conference without terminating the conference session

Unlimited Meetings Without Compromise

Make as many conference calls as you need and focus on meeting your customer's needs instead of worrying about compromising your company's bottom line.
